CONVICTS MAKE TITILE EFFORT TO ESCAPE PRISON

Five Convicts Make Sensational Getaway at Sing Sing But Were Captured.

LEADER OVERTAKEN IN MIDSTREAM

Guards on Roof of Prison Fire and Escaping Convicts are Intimidated.

Ossining, N. Y., Sept. 26.—Five convicts at Sing Sing prison, at work on a coal barge, overpowered a guard late afternoon, jumped the Hudson river, and attempted to swim to the other side. The shots of armed guards halted them, however, and all five were recaptured.

Billy Green, leader of the band, was hauled back from midstream in a row boat.

Green, who two years ago escaped and was brought back after being caught in California, heeded a moment after the shots were fired but continued toward the opposite shore until he saw the guards. He then turned back to his companions, Frederick D. Bart, Jos. White, Matthew Lofgren and Louis Price. Two guards in the small boat overtook him before he reached land, however, and he was captured without a struggle.

The convicts on the barge were in charge of Keeper William Lofgren. The five sprang upon him, knocking him down. Armed men on the other side of the Hudson, peering the water on the shore of the prison, saw the escape. They fired at the convicts with bullets but took good care not to hit any of the men.

SOUTH AMERICAN IS LOOKING FOR HIS SISTER

Police Have Been Asked to Obtain News of Whereabouts of Mrs. J. Lewis and Daughters.

The police have been asked by H. P. Lewis, of Argentina, S.A., and who is now in the city to try and locate his sister, Mrs. J. Lewis, who was last seen in 1910. She has two daughters, Constance, aged five, and Elizabeth, aged seven. When last heard from, P. Lewis says, his sister came over the line from the States with three children. It is known that she is in the city. Anybody knowing the whereabouts of the missing woman and her children, should notify police headquarters.

Yesterday's Startling Events; How the Capital Handled Them

"It never rains but it pours" is an old saying that is a stock phrase in newspaper and police circles. Work seems always to come in deluges on the poor newspaper policemen, and it is often that a true test of their ability is made.

Yesterday afternoon furnished an occasion of this kind for police and newspapermen of Edmonton. From 5:30 o'clock in the evening until 10 o'clock last night occurrences of the most sensational nature took place in rapid succession and how they were handled by the police and the newspapers the majority of the Edmonton public is already cognizant.

From 5:30 o'clock when the first report came in of the finding of the body of Louis M. Symons, former bank messenger near the fair grounds where he is thought to have committed suicide until the last of the startling events of the evening was common knowledge the Edmonton Police and the Daily Capital were "right on the job."

The Capital in an extra which came on the streets 20 minutes after the report of the finding of Symons' body came in told exclusively of that tragedy. Another extra was published in the evening fully 30 minutes in advance of the other paper's extra announcing the murder of Sidney Pellant by Mrs. Dean Davis at 478 Gallagher street.

The later extra which came out about 8 o'clock, containing the news of both these tragedies, exclusively sold like hot cakes, the newsboys disposing of about 100 papers. As in many previous instances the people of Edmonton were impressed with the fact of this affair will be a "live" Capital paper and usually first in the announcement of important news.

Following close on the heels of the Gallagher street murder came a frantic call for the police from the Edmonton hotel where two men were wounded in a fierce fight. Again the Capital was on the job with the police and had the news been deemed of sufficient importance another beat would have been pressed in. Full details of this affair will be found elsewhere in this issue.

No sooner had a detail of police been sent in search of the men who did the shooting at the hotel than a report came to the station of a report on Mrs. J. Warbeck, 516 Legat street. A man had struck her in the head with some sort of weapon and knocked her unconscious while she walked along the street with her husband. There was another mystery and more work for the police and newspapermen.

That the police did their share is evidenced by the fact that Mrs. Davis charged with the murder of Pellant and Mike Mylin charged with the murder of Warbeck are both under arrest and the arrest of the man implicated in the shooting at the Edmonton Hotel is expected to follow soon.

Whole Family Wiped Out in Midnight Conflagration

Eight Children Cremated Without a Chance to Save Themselves—Mother and Two Children Escape But Are So Badly Injured That Their Lives are Despaired Of—Father Only One to Escape Unhurt.

Quebec, Sept. 26.—Eight children, all brothers and sisters, were burned to death in a midnight fire, and two others, the mother and the eldest boy of the unfortunate family, are now at the point of death at the Hotel King, suffering terrible agony from burns and wounds received in their escape from the burning house. The family destroyed is that of Urie Trudel, who was the only one to escape with slight injuries. The names and ages of the young victims are:

Yvonne Trudel, 10 years.
Lucienne Trudel, 12 years.
Mile Trudel, 8 years.
Jean Paul Trudel, 2 years.
Theres Trudel, 5 years.
Charles Trudel, 7 years.
Three Trudel, 7 months.

The fatal fire broke out at midnight in a wooden house situated at 432 St. Francis street, in the center of the most populated district of the city. It was discovered by a young man on his way home, and before the firemen arrived on the scene the flames had devoured eight of the children, and the rescue of two members of the Trudel family had been made by passing by. Mrs. Trudel, who sounded the alarm, immediately went up to awake those who were sleeping in the burning house. He succeeded in waking up the eldest of the family, Urie Trudel, who escaped in his night garments. At the same moment his wife was crying out for help at a window on the third story. Several men in the street saw him to help him actually escape out of a 15-story building, who jumped from the roof of three young boys, who were standing on the wall with their heads, however, and he was captured without a struggle.

The convicts on the barge were in charge of Keeper William Lofgren. The five sprang upon him, knocking him down. Armed men on the other side of the Hudson, peering the water on the shore of the prison, saw the escape. They fired at the convicts with bullets but took good care not to hit any of the men.

SIR WEST RIDGEWAY, DIPLOMAT TAKES UP ARMS IN DEFENCE OF SIR EDWARD.

TASK MIGHT MAKE NAPOLEON ACQUIT

Says Government Has Acted Expediently in Allowing Carson to Pursue His Own Course.

London, Sept. 26.—Sir West Ridgeway, who has had great experience in diplomacy and administration, and as a member of the House of Commons, has written the Times today, declaring that the government is acting expediently in leaving Sir Edward Carson alone.

"Note the elegant proportions of the task Sir Edward Carson has undertaken," writes Sir West Ridgeway. "To equip, arm and lead an army recruited from a populace to whom the farmers do not destroy game. The towns sports wasted both game and the hands of families who have been ruined. There is no reason to believe that Carson could emerge triumphantly from an ordeal before which Napoleon might quail."

DUCK SHOOTING SEPTEMBER AND CHICKENS OCT. 1

Agriculture Committee Adopts Resolution Setting New Dates.

COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE MAY CONCUR

No Legislation Against Pump Gun and Proposal to Establish North and South Divisions With Different Regulations Rejected.

Duck season to open September 1, instead of August 23. Bag limit 25 per day. Season limit 200. Chicken season to open October 1 and close December 1. No protection for geese.

These were the proposed amendments to the provincial game laws agreed upon this morning by the committee on agriculture, which constitutes a majority of the house, and which will in all probability be adopted when the game law revision comes into the committee of the whole house.

The committee met this morning, every member being present. Mr. Marshall explained that the recommendations of the committee would be submitted as a whole amendment.

Mr. Walker, chairman of the committee, said he was not prepared to defend August 23 as the date for opening the duck season. The movement for amendment comes from the town and city hunters. The farmers do not destroy game. He kills to eat and if he can get two or three birds he is not so much the better.

The pump gun, confined Mr. Walker, was the poor man's weapon, and while he did not want to use one, he would oppose any legislation against this arm.

Mr. Walker said he opposed the drawing of a dead line for north and south Alberta, and while he was content to leave the law as applied to chickens as it was, he would not oppose its amendment.

Mr. Kennedy said ducks were too young to kill on August 23. He favored opening the season September 1. The farmers do not destroy game. The town sports wasted both game and the hands of families who have been ruined. There is no reason to believe that Carson could emerge triumphantly from an ordeal before which Napoleon might quail.

JEALOUS WOMAN SHOT OVER FOLLOWING BITTER QUARREL OVER ANOTHER WOMAN

SIDNEY PELLANT.

Formerly Bartender at the St. Elmo Hotel Dead Man Had Returned from Lacombe

DECEASED ACCUSED OF INFIDELITY

Sordid Tale of Love and Drink Which Led up to Tragedy Last Night.

Believing she had been supplanted in his affections by another woman and becoming insanely jealous, Mrs. Dean Davis shot and instantly killed Sidney Pellant last night at 6:30 at her house, 178 Gallagher street.

Mrs. Davis, about 27 years of age, has been separated from her husband for some time. Pellant, it is said, had been living with her until a short time ago when he went to Lacombe where he was employed in the Empress hotel as a bartender.

On a visit to the city yesterday from Lacombe, Pellant called upon the Davis woman and it is said that a violent quarrel arose when she accused him of intimacy with a girl in town.

William Fosskett, a house at the Davis house, went out during the argument to get provisions for the evening meal. According to his statement, after his arrest as a material witness, he returned and found Pellant seated in a chair, his face flushed, and his hands shaking over the prostrate body and caressing the man's face and hands.

One look at the body convinced Fosskett that Pellant was dead and, upon questioning Mrs. Davis, it is said she admitted having shot him. Fosskett went to the name of a neighbor and telephoned the police. On their arrival Mrs. Davis was still kneeling over Pellant's body and beseeching him to come back to speak to her.

She admitted to the police having done the shooting and was immediately taken to police headquarters under arrest, as was Fosskett who is being detained as a witness.

The revolver was found by the police with all shells discharged. One bullet pierced Pellant's heart, another his shoulder and a third grazed his right arm. The weapon is a Police Revolver, Colts make, 12 calibre.

The murdered man until about a month ago was a bartender at the St. Elmo hotel and was well known around town as "Darkie." He was about 36 years of age and comes from Ipswich, England. The body was removed to Connelly and McKelvey's morgue.

Dr. Kennedy, who had been summoned, arrived with the police and pronounced death as being instantaneous.

The inquest over the body of Pellant will be held tonight at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Davis was not arraigned in police court this morning, but is held pending the outcome of the inquest.

It is further believed that Pellant was shot while lying in bed, and the body was then dragged by Mrs. Davis into the front or living room.

EIGHT CHILDREN CREMATED WHEN HOUSE BURNED

Whole Family Nearly Wiped Out by Fire in Quebec Home—Mum and Two Children Escape But Are So Badly Injured That Their Lives are Despaired Of—Father Only One to Escape Unhurt.

Quebec, Sept. 26.—Fire broke out shortly after midnight in a three-story wooden building at No. 482 St. Francis street, and it is believed eight members of the family of Urie Trudel who was the only one to escape with slight injuries. The names and ages of the young victims are:

Isaacs Guilty of Forgery on One Count

L. F. Clarry, deputy attorney general, received a telegram from St. John, N.B., this morning stating that R. D. Isaacs, who was being tried there on the charge of forgery in connection with land titles office of Edmonton had been found guilty on one count, the jury recommending leniency.

Isaacs it will be remembered is the man who was charged with the forgery of land titles documents by which he attempted to prove his ownership to property in Edmonton. This property he disposed of in Eastern provinces, the purchasers ultimately discovering that the property was owned by other parties.

THE 20 MILL LIMIT AND THE SINGLE TAX.

Section 294 of the towns act limits the tax levy rate in Alberta town municipalities to 20 mills, exclusive of debenture, school and local improvement rates. One of the difficulties in the application of the principle of single tax in municipal affairs in the province of Alberta has been that under this clause it was found impossible in some of the towns to raise sufficient revenue from land alone at the 20 mill rate to provide the necessary funds to carry on the current business of the municipalities. Various expedients were proposed for overcoming what was alleged to be a difficulty brought about through the single tax legislation. Those opposed on principle to single tax fastened upon this as an evidence that single tax was unworkable, and the various municipalities conventions were importuned—with a view to political effect, no doubt—to go on record in favor of resolutions which were intended to convey the idea that the single tax was unworkable as applied to towns, and should be amended out of existence.

One of the expedients most commonly followed was to raise the assessment, which was achieving, in another way, the same thing as a raise in the tax rate.

In the legislation which is to come before the house at the present session there is great probability that there will be an amendment to the towns act which will lift the 20 mill limit to the municipal tax levy, making it possible for town municipalities to tax the lands within their limits at whatever rate the municipal council finds necessary in order to raise the money required to carry on the business of the town.

Such an amendment will undoubtedly find a very strenuous opposition from the conservatives, whose theory of taxation is as opposite to the principle of single tax as it is possible to arrive at. Nevertheless, the amendment is one which will appeal at once to everyone who has given independent thought and deliberate study to the large question of the principles which should be applied in the raising of revenue for municipalities.

Reduced to its simplest analysis, the question itself is by no means intricate. The town requires a certain revenue. The rate permitted in the statute must be amended so that the town can raise more money than is possible by taxing land within the limits at 20 mills on the dollar. There are two ways in which this extra revenue can be raised; either by amending the act so as to permit a heavier levy on the land, or by amending the act so as to permit the taxation of something else besides land—such, for instance, as the buildings on the land, the goods on the merchants' shelves, or the personal property of the citizens of the town.

If the first amendment is the one adopted the effect is to cost those who reside in the town and who use land for the purpose of residing or conducting business thereon no more than they would otherwise pay. On the contrary, the aggregate cost to the resident who uses the land he owns will be less, while the cost to the non-user will be greater, thus discouraging the holding of land out of use for purposes of speculation.

Whether the citizen pays 20 mills on a lot valued at $1,000 and a building valued at $2,000, or whether he pays 60 mills on the lot alone, valued at $1,000, makes no material difference so far as he is concerned. His aggregate contribution to the funds of the municipality would under these different conditions be the same, no matter whether the taxation is taken upon lands or buildings. But the building is a created value, something which he placed there himself, an evidence of his enterprise contributing toward the growth of the community in which he lives.

Alongside of him may be a lot owned by some person who is not a resident of the municipality, who has not built anything, who does not intend to build, and who has no intention of doing otherwise than to hold the land out of use until he can make a profit by relinquishing it to someone who requires it in order to become a resident of the town and thereby give greater value to all the land.

Against this property holder by abolishing the 20 mill limit, the aggregate tax is raised, the levy which would otherwise be made against the value of the buildings now exempted being distributed proportionately over all the land holdings in the town.

The owner of a lot with a building thereon pays more on the lot, but nothing whatever upon the building.

The owner of a lot with no buildings thereon pays the same upon the unused lot as does the resident upon the lot alongside which he uses.

The effort is that the resident who uses his land pays less; the non-resident who holds his land for speculation pays more.

An amendment abolishing the 20 mill limit to the tax levy would forever settle the question of who pays the taxes by making it possible for the municipalities to effectively abolish all taxation against enterprise upon the part of citizens and make it possible to collect taxes in direct proportion to the advantages which owners of land enjoyed as owners, distinct from the value they contributed as residents and users.

THE VEGREVILLE PROMISE OF NINE-CENT GAS.

The report of the gas experts, Messrs. Huntley and Clapp, which recommends that the city engage in the gas enterprise as a municipal undertaking, that $100,000 be devoted to exploratory work in the Vegreville field in spots indicated by the experts, and which claims that the cost of bringing gas from the Pelican field would be not less than 24 cents a thousand feet, will come as a solar plexus to those who were so insistent a few months ago that the city itself up to a 25-year contract with a private company for the delivery of gas at the city limits from the Pelican field at 15 cents a thousand feet.

Undoubtedly Messrs. Huntley and Clapp know what they are talking about, their standing as experts being a guarantee of that. If, as they say, the cost of gas from the Pelican would have been 24 cents per thousand feet, and if the difficulties which they point out would make the construction of a pipe line from the northern field so difficult as to be almost impracticable, then the only conclusion that can be drawn from the experts' report is that those behind the enterprise which sought a 25-year contract were either misinformed as to the possibilities of their proposition or they were regardless about the real merits thereof.

Under either circumstances the effect would have been the same so far as the city of Edmonton is concerned. The experts' report makes it plain that in their minds at least there was no possibility of the city getting 15-cent gas, no matter what the contract called for, because fulfillment of the contract upon those terms was impossible.

If the report of the experts is to be accepted as conclusive, a vote of thanks is due to those members of the city council who refused to be stamped into a contract without complete information, as it must now be evident that their judgment saved the city from being tied up for a quarter of a century in an impossible situation.

The wisest course now would be to follow the advice of the experts and commence the exploration of the Vegreville field at once. The city needs the gas and there should be no delay in securing it. If the Vegreville field promises 9-cent gas the city can afford to spend a lot of money upon exploration.

ASSURANCES AND THE CASUALTY LIST.

Judging by the casualty list of the past few days it might be just as well to take the census at once, lest the next compilation of statistics shows an asterisk before the Edmonton percentage indicating a loss of population.

Edmonton is piling up a record of homicides and accidental killings which is unenviable, to say the least. In the meantime the assurances come from the city hall that the street cars may be able to speeded up to the point where they may be able to overtake the capitalization and that the police force have the situation well in hand.

The confidence inspired by such assurances will not be corroborated in the minds of citizens by the casualty list.

Had Stomach Rumblyings Distress Before Meals Was Seldom Free From That Weary, Droopy, Half-Dead Feeling.

Now Cured, and Gives Good Advice to Others With Dyspeptic Tendencies.

If you have any stomach distress at all you will certainly be interested in the following experience which is told by Mr. Edward Hawkins: "When I was working around the farm last winter I had an attack of inflammation," said Mr. E. P. Hawkins, of Port Richmond. "I was weak for a long time, but well enough to work until spring. But something went wrong with my bowels for I had to use salts or physio all the time. My stomach kept酸, and always after eating there was pain and fullness, and all the symptoms of indigestion. Nothing helped me until I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Instead of hurting, like other pills, they acted very mildly, and seemed to heal the bowels. I did not require large doses to get results with Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and feel so glad that I have found a mild yet certain remedy. Today I am well—no pain, no sour stomach, a good appetite, able to do anything. This is a whole lot of good for one medicine to do, and I can say Dr. Hamilton's Pills are the best pills, and my letter, I am sure, proves it."

Refuse a substitute for Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butterbur. These are not real medicine, but are put, 25¢ per box or five for $1.00, at all druggists and stockholders, or post paid from the Caterinozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Canada.

TODAY IN DOMINION HISTORY.

Just a century ago today General William Henry Harrison, began the invasion of Canada that was to result so disastrously to Great Britain. The American force, the Thames, the American force of 4,000 men, vessels and about 100 boats, were embarked in perfect battle order on Hartley's Point, about four miles below Amherstburg. They expected to meet resistance, but no enemy was there. General Proctor, to whom the defense of Canada was entrusted, had taken Canada of Providence, and, in opposition to the earnest entreaties and indignant protests of his officers and the brave Tecumseh, his Indian ally, but had marched with his army and all he could take toward him. The American force, Fort Maitland, the heavy batteries and sometimes reduced to smoking ruins. As the Americans approached Amherstburg, they met not brave British soldiers and the gallant Tecumseh's warriors, but the hands of women, who came to implore from the enemy that mercy and protection that the brave Proctor had refused. Their fears were allayed by Harrison and his officers, and the Americans entered Amherstburg with the band playing "Yankee Doodle." Proctor had been driven from the country to facilitate his flight, and on the 27th Harrison spoke to the American Secretary of War. He told the story of the victory, although there is no probability of overlooking him, as he had upwards of 1,000 horses and we have not one in the army." Harrison overestimated Proctor's ability, however, for he soon overtook him and won a complete victory in a battle in which the British General was killed, while Proctor escaped in a carriage, leaving to the "merciless" capture of a court martial.

FIRST THINGS.

The first meeting of the Washington National Monument Society was held in the city hall building, 810 Broadway, today, when the society was organized as a volunteer association to work for the erection in the capital of the republic of a monument, national in character, to the founder and first president of the United States. The first suggestion of such a monument was made as early as 1783, when the Continental Congress passed a resolution recommending the erection of a statue of Washington. The scheme was revived after Washington's death, but congress failed to provide for the execution of the work, and it was not until the monument society was created in 1846 that anything was accomplished. Chief Justice John Marshall was elected as first president of the society, and on his death was succeeded by James Madison. The society collected $27,000 in contributions, and the cornerstone of the monument was laid in 1816. The Senate refused to concur in $200,000 appropriation, and all work stopped until 1876, when Congress appropriated one million dollars. The monument, dedicated in 1885, is one of the most magnificent memorials of the kind in the world, and cost in all $1,500,000.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

THE GAY WORLD.

LUNDY-LAIRD

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Laird, 507 Clara street, was the scene of a quiet but very pretty wedding, Wednesday, Sept. 24, at high noon, when their daughter, Hazel Alyssa, was united in marriage to Frederick William Lundy, a prominent barrister of Stony Plain, by Rev. F. W. Patterson of First Baptist church. To the strain of Lohengrin's Wedding March, played by Mrs. Percy Cook, of Stony Plain, sister of the bride, the bride entered the drawing-room on the arm of her father, looking charming in her travelling suit of navy blue with red opening over a dainty French blouse with a pretty blue hat with plumes to match. Little Ozelle Cook, niece of the bride, looking very sweet in a dainty lingerie dress of French design, carried the ring in a moss bud.

During the silence of the register, Mrs. Chester Barnes, Mrs. Clara Taylor, and very sweetly, O. Frank McNeil. After the ceremony the guests retired to the dining-room, where a buffet luncheon was served by four young lady friends of the bride, Misses Mabel Taylor, Mable Gonsky, Vera Edgar and Anne Murray. Amid showers of confetti the happy couple left on the two-forty-five train for the mountains.

Mrs. and Miss Markley, who have been guests of Mrs. Albert Moore, will return to Calgary on Saturday.

Mrs. J. S. Wallace, of Winnipeg, and family, will arrive in Edmonton on October 1st, when Mrs. Wallace will reside in Edmonton for the future, and have rented a bungalow on Athabasca avenue, No. 1211.

The reception which was to have been held Friday evening at the Y. M. C. A. in honor of Rev. Morton L. Rose, D. D., the new minister of the Church of Christ, has been deferred until Wednesday evening of next week, October 2, at which time it will be held in the Blue Moon Tea Room. Friends are requested to accept this invitation.

Mrs. Archibald Macdonald, south side, has as her guest, her sister, Miss Margaret Black, Vancouver.

The vocal recital by Miss Constance Buck this evening in the lecture hall of First Presbyterian church, should be well patronized, as Miss Buck has arranged a delightful program. Miss Eva Blackwell at the piano, and Mr. Vernon Barford as accompanist, are valuable assistants.

Mrs. Fred M. Robertson, 527 Sixth street, will receive Monday afternoon, September 29th, from 4 to 6 o'clock for the first time since her marriage.

The marriage of Mr. Angus MacKenzie and Miss Barbara Blake, was solemnized in the First Presbyterian church on Wednesday at high noon. Dr. McQueen officiating.

The bride, who was unattended, wore a handsome costume of white duchess satin with long tulle veil and cascade blossoms. A beautiful bouquet of white roses was carried.

The happy couple left on the afternoon train for the coast, where the honeymoon will be spent.

The quack-convoy room was a smart tailored suit of russet brown with charming hat in the same autumn color.

Mr. Angus MacKenzie is a brother of Mr. Kenneth MacKenzie and Mr. D. S. MacKenzie, deputy minister of education.

Mrs. and Mrs. Chambers Gordroy, Stinehart street, celebrated their silver wedding Wednesday evening. A whist drive, dancing and a splendid supper were held in the Moose hall, Nunnary avenue.

Mrs. Gordroy wears a handsome costume of heavy cream satin.

Numerous gifts of silver were presented to the host and hostess.

Miss Constance Buck, a well-known local contralto singer, is giving a recital tonight at the First Presbyterian church on Fifth street. She will be assisted by Miss Eva Blackwell, pianist, and Mr. Vernon Barford, accompanist.

At the marriage of the First Presbyterian church, John E. Taylor was married to Miss Victoria Davis, on Wednesday 18th, by Rev. D. G. McQueen.

CAMPING

Ever camp?
Ever sleep out in the damp
By a creek?

While the fever and chills
Gave your spinal column thrills
For a week?

Ever camp?
Ever use a spirit lamp
For your meals?
Ever eat on rotten logs
Ever board a lot of hogs
With champagne?

Ever camp?
Ever sojourn in a swamp
With some boys?
If you have been through this strife
You are posted on camp life
With his boys

KILLED BY WASP'S STING

Terwarthville, Cornwall, Eng., Sept. 25.—The sting of a wasp today killed Lady Moleworth. The wasp stung Lady Moleworth in the jugular vein, and she passed away within 20 minutes.

WELL-KNOWN COMPOSER DEAD

London, Sept. 25.—The death occurred today of Harry Goldschmidt, the well-known composer and entertainer, who was founder of "The Palladium" troupe. He was born in London 1874.

Edmonton, Alta.—A delightful secret society, a subject of interest to the Y. M. C. A. in honor of Rev. Morton L. Rose, D. D., the new minister of the Church of Christ, has been deferred until Wednesday evening of next week, October 2, at which time it will be held in the Blue Moon Tea Room. Friends are requested to accept this invitation.

Why is Woman's Attire Featured?

FASHIONS AND FANCIES

STAGE IS SUBJECT OF MANY BOOKS

It is the fashion nowadays to write books about the stage, and the fact that the stage has survived all the monotonies written about it is a gratifying proof of its sturdy vitality. No writer on this popular topic permits such a trifling impetuosity as profound ignorance to stand in this way of his printed effort, which accounts for the undue consideration given in nearly all books to the serious and sombre drama rather than to farce and comedy.

The drama should always supply the imagination with something that drives, and that hard working, quick thinking hopeful nation has far greater need of laughter than of tears. In the mystery, or miracle, plays given under the auspices of the church during the middle ages the comic element was never lacking. The Theatre Francaise owes its origin to a band of strolling comedians famous for their ability to make their audiences laugh. Every one of the renowned theatres of Germany sprang from some popular handiwork which clowned in the village marketplace.

To say that we owe more to Harrison and Hart and Weber and Fields and the other great comedians than the men who have provided us with serious dramas would be to confess a lack of culture, but to say that we would sound very like the truth.

STORY CONTEST ON NEXT WEEK

Empress Theatre Offering
Prizes for Best Story on Opera "Tannhauser."

A contest will be held by the management of the Empress theatre beginning Monday, September 29th, which will last through the week. Prizes will be awarded for the best story of the opera "Tannhauser," as played by the world's greatest artists, in one hundred words. The first prize is $10, the second $5, and the third passes for the theatre for two months. The contest closes Monday, October 6th. The letter must be delivered at the Empress theatre—they will then be sent to the Blue Moon Tea Room, where they may be seen by the public. Mrs. Arthur Murphy and Miss Jean Fosdy will act as judges. Prize winners will be announced in the local papers, and the prizes will be distributed at the Empress theatre Wednesday, October 8th, by the judges. Pictures of "Tannhauser" will be shown on Wednesday and Thursday, October 8th and 9th.

Story of Tannhauser
Elizabeth, niece of the Landgrave of Thuringia, a pretty princess who, during the middle ages, was noted for her beauty and goodness. In those days, when chivalry ruled the world, minstrels were held in high repute and great nobles sang to their lady loves and composed in minstrel tournaments for their favor.

A minstrel tournament was held at the Landgrave's castle. There were many competitors, but all conceded that Wolfram, a young noble, would surely win the prize. And he would have succeeded if another contestant had not entered at the last moment, the young knight, Tannhauser, a stranger to the Thuringian court. In great haste, Wolfram, Tannhauser was his master, and he received the silver crown of victory from Elizabeth's fair hands.

Love came to Elizabeth and Tannhauser, but the Landgrave had other plans for her, and betrothed his niece to Wolfram. Tannhauser, broken-hearted, wandered away from court. In the forests he met the pagan goddess, Venus, who ruled in her dominion beneath the earth. She cast a spell over him, charming Venus and her nymphs by his wonderful singing. Finally he grew weary of the life, and returned to the court. He was in a moment found himself in the forest which he had left a year before.

Tannhauser made his way back to the court, where he found that Wolfram, discovering that Elizabeth loved Tannhauser, had freed her from the betrothal. Arrangements were made

If Bad Water Causes Diarrhoea Use Some 'Nerviline'

Prompt Relief is Instantly Assured, and Thousands Use
Nerviline on this Account

A Traveler's Experience Related

The experience of Mr. Norman P. Hendricks is not an unusual one. Writing from Prince Albert, he says: "My business calls me from one place to another, and I am frequently up against the bad water problem of the Canadian North-West. In so many places the water disagrees with me, and I used to be kept very miserable on that account. An old settler told me one day that nothing is so useful to newcomers as Nerviline, and he explained to me how valuable it proved to him under similar circumstances twenty-five years ago. You would hardly believe how happy and comfortable my trips are since I learned of Nerviline. I look upon Nerviline as my trusty friend, and give it a place of honor in my hand bag. In fact, I wouldn't think of being without it in any country like this. It cures any little stomach trouble or digestive disturbances and relieves a cramp in ten minutes. To cure Neuralgia, Earache, Toothache, or pain in your muscles like Rheumatism, you simply can't beat Nerviline."

To cure little ills before they grow big and to relieve the aches and pains of the whole family get Nerviline today. Family size 50c; trial size, 25c; all storekeepers and druggists, or The Cattlehouse Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Appropos of the inevitable low neck, the first colds are hatching out on feather beds and feather pillows. Not by any manner of means are the ostrich beds of today the healthy emblems of luxury of yesterday, trailing their bulky lengths over fair shoulders to well below the hip line. The ostrich beds of today are fitting your throat snugly are fastened a trifle to one side of the back of your neck with the ends, one shorter than the other, falling down behind.

News was brought to Elizabeth of Tannhauser's plight. She fell ill, but constantly prayed for him, and a miracle was wrought, for leaves appeared upon the Pope's staff. He recalled his words and sent a messenger to find Tannhauser and deliver his pardon to him. Tannhauser was joyfully hastened to Elizabeth with the news.

His joy changed to sorrow when he found the castle and found that Elizabeth had died, praying to God last for him. Overcome by grief, the young knight lay lifeless beside the body of his loved one.

for the early marriage of the two lovers when Tannhauser, under the magic influence of Venus, praised her in song, and was accused of blasphemy. The only way that he could secure pardon was to journey to Rome with a band of pilgrims and implore forgiveness from the Pope.

The Pope was a kindly man, but when he heard the sin of which Tannhauser was guilty, he was unwilling to grant absolution, declaring that not until his staff should bloom would Tannhauser's lost soul be saved. Tannhauser, heart-broken, fled into the wilderness.

There were many competitors, but all conceded that Wolfram, a young noble, would surely win the prize. And he would have succeeded if another contestant had not entered at the last moment, the young knight, Tannhauser, a stranger to the Thuringian court.

Some London Hotels Which Are Becoming Popular

The newer hotels that have come along, another which is being erected on the site of the historic Princess Theatre in Oxford street, will soon be completed at a cost of $1,000,000 and will also contain 1,000 bedrooms. An offer of $10,000 a year has been accepted by the city council as the rental on a ninety-nine year lease of a site in Aldwych present, on which a hotel will be built.

"The biggest hotel in the world will be erected at a cost of $4,000,000 on the site of St. George's hospital, Hyde Park corner, which has been purchased for the purpose by the Duke of Devonshire, M.P., who was the buyer of the site, said that this new hotel would be "in every way the proudest of the greatest city known to civilization."

Sex Problem Consuming Literature

The action of the New York authorities in suppressing two indecent plays may perhaps serve to call attention to the fact that a season of correspondingly objectionable literature is threatening that city's present novel, "The Woman Thou Lovest Best," has aroused a hysterical emphasis to the tendency.

This book, with its sensational title, its muddy logic and its false ethics, may be taken as a good example of the kind of story we have had and may well expect in the near future—the story which alleges a high ethical motive as reason for its being, and the upshot of which is the abandonment of decency in the name of spiritual sentimentality.

Some years ago, about the time when Mrs. Cady published her story, the title of which has since passed into a world-wide jest, such another outbreak occurred. Of course, there has been in recent years a steady output of daring fiction, of books which the last century would have thought shocking, yet frequently these books have had some valid excuse, and many times the great excuse of sincerity.

It is not of these, however, that we are speaking. It is rather of the books which are produced mechanically and without serious thought to the demands of the vulgar, and which, for the most part, are the result of a recurrent fashion of discussing "vice" and of reading books on so-called "sex problems."

"THE APPLE OF FARIS" SCORED EUROPEAN HIT

Pantomime Production at the Pantages
Next Week Has Planned Audiences
Whenever Played.

"The Apple of Faris," which comes to the Pantages next week, is a Parisian pantomime that scored many successes in France and in England, Scotland and Ireland. In the United States, the fascinating act was produced, and won the admiration of all audiences. Mr. Amato will head the company and play the part of an adventurer.

The added attraction for the week will be "Laurie and Gray," the clever English comedienne, who will appear in a suffragette act. Marion Munson and her all-star company will introduce "The Kidnapping of Bimmes," Miss Le Maire is known to be very clever on the roller skates, while Brian and Baker have a refined comedy pantomime.

KING GEORGE DEVELOPS A DEVOTION TO RACING

English Ruler, Against Wishes of Queen Mary, Resolves to Improve His Strips of Banglades.

London, Sept. 26.—Much against the wishes of the Queen, King George has developed recently a devotion to racing equal to that of his late father. He is dissatisfied with the performance of his present stud of horses and has instructed Lord Marcus Herbert to buy for him a dozen of the best yearlings obtainable and to procure them at the forthcoming pound sale.

It has been arranged to have the race-horse sale at Newmarket, England. During the coming winter the king is expected to purchase some of his horses in the stock-exchange.

All over paid gowns of either wool or silk are also very good but in combination with a one toned material the bright coloring of the plaid is the most effective.

DUCK SHOOTING SEPTEMBER AND CHICKENS OCT

to the pump gun. He thought it was a source of protection rather than a game destroyer. Perhaps the member for Okotoks meant the automobile gun. Many pump guns were owned in the province and should not be confiscated.

Mr. Hudson said Walworth was a good game district, but ducks and chickens were not destructive to crops. He believed crop shooting should be encouraged. The opinion in his constituency was that ducks and chickens should come in together about Sept. 10. He had no objection to pump guns.

Mr. Saunders said the sports who shot in his constituency on August 23 generally came in with a brace of ducks and a brace of chickens. On September 10, in his opinion, would be a suitable date to open the chicken and duck seasons. Ducks did not destroy grain in Whitford, but the moose tore down his fences and ravaged his fields.

Mr. McCall said he and his constituents were getting tired of pork and beans and would like to have some variety. Mr. Patterson said the farmers in Manitoba had no time to shoot in September and October. He thought that both duck and chicken seasons on the same date would, he believed, destroy the chickens. The hunters would have to wait until the first of October. He thought that the hunters would be disappointed. He had no objection to postponing the duck and chicken seasons. Supt. Parsons Replies to Mayor's Request for Figures

Says That He Would Not Have Made Suggestions for Reduction of Price of Power Had He Thought the Department Would Be Unable to Still Maintain a Profit—Lively Discussion Over Letter at Meeting of Commissioners.

Commissioner Chalmers and Mayor Short had a long argument in commissioners meeting this morning over the power situation. It took place after Secretary Egan had read a long letter from Superintendent Parsons in reply to a letter from the mayor addressed to the superintendent in which he asked Mr. Parsons to produce figures which would justify his recent recommendation to reduce the cost of power for all purposes to 2 cents a kilowatt hour.

Superintendent Parsons states in his reply that the letter addressed to him by the mayor was not intended to cover three ideas. First, that the proposed reductions are incompatible with the fact that they are not made at that time; second, that certain figures are not justified by the power house; and, third, that any savings effected in the department of a better load factor and that it is therefore not correct to say that the power house is the cause of the cost of production.

Has Reduced Cost of Producing Electricity. These matters are all dealt with in detail by the superintendent who quotes former figures to demonstrate that he has reduced the cost of electricity. He says that the circumstances connected with the letter of May 22 prove conclusively that he was not aware of the fact that the mayor had asked the secretary to produce figures for the cost of electricity. He says that the circumstances connected with the letter of May 22 prove conclusively that he was not aware of the fact that the mayor had asked the secretary to produce figures for the cost of electricity.

Mayor's Request for Figures. The mayor in discussing the letter submitted by Mr. Parsons this morning said the commission had certain statements are untrue and that the figures are misleading. The load factor, he maintained, is based on the average of 24 hours of the day for each of the 24 hours of the day and for each of the 24 hours of the day. He said that the load factor is based on the average of 24 hours of the day for each of the 24 hours of the day and for each of the 24 hours of the day.

High rates only. The mayor is well aware of this fact, as the last time he consulted it I had the files produced for his information. The substance of the report in question was that at the date mentioned I did not feel justified in recommending any further concession in the cost of power. I maintain that the stand I then took was absolutely correct. Only three weeks previously I had reduced the charge for street railway power by 10 per cent, and at the same time had taken over the whole of the street railway and maintaining the sub-stations, in addition to assuming capital charges for the street railway. I had, moreover, over the summer months with their small revenues and high maintenance charges were just commencing.

It was unreasonable to expect me to make any further reductions until I had an opportunity of seeing the effect of the very considerable concession which, as I have pointed out, I made only three weeks previously. (2) The figures you have quoted from my monthly reports are very misleading, unless you also quote the items of which they are composed, at the same time. If you will study the itemized operating cost given in my monthly report, you will see at once that the far the most important item of expense is that of coal, which is about equal to the cost of electricity. It is not, as you say, that the cost of electricity is about equal to the cost of coal. It is not, as you say, that the cost of electricity is about equal to the cost of coal. It is not, as you say, that the cost of electricity is about equal to the cost of coal.

Cost of Coal. The cost of coal for the month of September, 1913, is as follows: September, 1913, 1,014. October, 1913, 1,014. November, 1913, 1,014. December, 1913, 1,014. January, 1914, 1,014. TODAY'S BIRTHDAY PARTY

King Christian of Denmark Celebrates

Danes will celebrate today the birthday of their monarch, King Christian X, who passes his forty-third birthday. The ruler of the little northern kingdom with the glorious history was born Sept. 26, 1870, and married Princess Alexandra of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, who gave him two sons, Crown Prince Frederick and Prince Prince. King Christian succeeded to the Danish throne on the death of his father, Frederick VIII, in May of last year. His mother was the daughter of King Charles XV of Sweden. He is a brother of King Haakon of Norway, a nephew of the Dowager Queen of Russia and the Dowager Queen of Great Britain, and a cousin of Constantine of Greece. During his sixteen months on the throne, King Christian has done much to make himself popular with his subjects, and has also taken a hand in international affairs. He was one of the prime movers in the reconciliation of the royal families of Germany which had a romantic result in the marriage of the Kaiser's daughter to the son of his ancient enemy.

Christian of Denmark and Haakon of Norway are the only European monarchs to go a royal "brother act" since the death of Frederick of Denmark and George of Greece. The Danish monarch, like his brother in Norway, has been handicapped by a genuine and powerful movement toward republicanism and socialism, although the radicals have not yet been able to dislodge Christian to the level of a mere figurehead, as is the case with Haakon. King Christian is a militarist, rather than a man of peace, and he was a major-general in his country's army when called to the throne. The Danish King is a lavish entertainer, and a lover of sports and outdoor pastimes.

TODAY WE CELEBRATE

English Freethinkers Celebrate Birthday of Bradlaugh, Atheist.

English freethinkers will celebrate today the eightieth anniversary of the birthday of Charles Bradlaugh, radical reformer and arch-atheist. The annual Bradlaugh Birthday program centers in Northampton, from which place Bradlaugh was sent to Parliament. He was excommunicated from that body because of his refusal to subscribe to an oath which implied a belief in the existence of God. He was three re-elected by voters of Northampton, and, after a memorable fight, was eventually seated. The Bradlaugh statue in Northampton presents the agitator in the attitude which he most often assumed on the lecture platform.

The "father of secularism," who lives in history as the arch-atheist of the nineteenth century, has told in his autobiography of his journey from faith to unbelief—a journey that did not stop at agnosticism, as was the case with Huxley, Spencer, Haeckel, Ingersoll and other secularists, but went to the full length of an avowed and uncompromising atheism.

In his youth Bradlaugh was a member of the Church of England, and a Sunday school teacher. When a study of the four Gospels developed a faint doubt in his mind, he resigned his job on the pretext of his church "a respectful letter, asking him for aid and explanation." Bradlaugh continued "All he did was to denounce my letter to my parents as atheistical, although at that time I should have abandoned at the very notion of becoming an atheist, and he succeeded me for three months from my office of Sunday school teacher."

With his sundays unoccupied, the young seeker for truth attended a "free forum" where debates between Christians and unbelievers were frequently held. He himself entered in the debates, at first on the orthodox Christian side. The arguments of his opponents seemed too powerful to overcome, however, and soon he found that his views were regarded as the freethought position. He also became a teetotaler, and preached against the use of alcoholic beverages. Temperance was then as unpopular as religious heresy, and Bradlaugh's parents, clergyman and employers joined in an ultimatum whereby he was given three days to change his opinions on religion and the liquor question, with the alternative of loss of home, church and employment. "At this time," says Bradlaugh, "I hardly knew what, if any, opinions I had, but the result was that rather than make a show of religion, I left home and situation, and never returned to either."

Later in life Bradlaugh wrote of his career as a reformer and heretic. "I am indeed, a rough, self-taught infidel. What honors shall I win if I grow grey in this career? Critics who break a lance against me in my absence will tell you that I am from the lower classes, without university education, and that I lack classical lore. I think those assailants of the past. When they picked and stung me with their wretched policy, they did me good. They gave me the clue to my weaknesses, laid bare to me my ignorance, and drove me to acquire knowledge which might otherwise have been mine. I pray the opposing forces to continue their attacks, that by tracing me my weakness they may make the stroke. I have preached equality; not by aiming to reduce men's intellects to the level of my own, but rather by meeting each of my hearers to develop his mind to the fullest extent, obtaining thus the hope, not of an equality of ignorance, but of a more equal diffusion of knowledge."

GOOD REPORT FROM CITY FARM SUPT.

City Commissioners Will Go
Out to Farm to See How Crops are Coming In.

With the opening of harvest season the city commissioners propose making another trip of inspection to the city farm, some 10 miles up the river. It is over a month now since any of the commissioners have been up to see what Superintendent Lyons is doing, and therefore, on the suggestion of Commissioner Chalmers, they agreed that it would be an opportune time to take a drive out to the farm after the first of the month, when they will have opportunity to inspect things as well as farms. All the commissioners agreed to this move.

In his monthly report the superintendent of the farm states that everything is progressing well, that the men have been on their good behavior and that the crop has been almost all harvested. There was no loss of any of the corn this year, and that a sufficient supply might be on hand to feed the horses and cattle throughout the winter months, the superintendent arranged to cut the hay on adjoining lots on shares, he to receive one-third of the crop. In this way he has 10 tons now stored away for winter. As hay is worth $15 a ton, he figures that this move has saved the city $150.

The report states that the root crops and garden truck are all first-class. Fall ploughing is now under way and improvements are being made on the buildings. The new dormitory will be completed in October. Recently a new well was sunk and a good supply of pure water obtained. This well was used to water the men sent out to the farm away from their beds. The report contains the information that since the farm was established 150 men have been sent out by the police department. A. O. McKelrick has secured positions for 26 of the men after leaving the farm. He has also been conducting Sunday services at the farm in which the Salvation Army has taken a part. In this way, not only the physical, but the intellectual and moral welfare of the men are looked after. The city farm is successful in every sense of the word, and as month by month sees additional improvements, it will continue to be a haven for the building up of such men as are unfortunate enough to get into the cells.

MUNICIPAL NEWS.

City Would Be Taking Risk—

The laying of permanent street car tracks on Twenty-fourth street, beyond the drained area, has been the cause of some inquiry during the past few days. A trip of inspection made by the mayor and Commissioner Chalmers, the city engineer was asked to report as to the effect the water might have on the permanent base for the street railway. The city engineer states in his report that the city is taking a good deal of risk in laying track beyond the area already provided with drains. At a recent meeting he suggested that surface drains might be dug along the track. These drains could be made a little deeper than the concrete base, and thus help to keep the concrete dry. The portion in question lies between Broadway and Alberta. The commissioners have referred the matter to the mayor to decide as to the best policy to pursue in the matter. The suggestion has been made that the work be suspended and not completed until after proper drainage has been taken care of, but as all the grading has been done and preparations made for the completion of the work it would be a hardship on the contractor if this course should be followed.

Superintendent Wants Storehouse— Superintendent Lyons has a plan to store the sweepers, sprinklers and other apparatus used in the department during the summer months. These he does not believe should be stored in the city hall. He has suggested that the city should build a storehouse for the purpose. Superintendent Smith has been asked to arrange for a suitable place to store the valuable machinery.

C.P.R. Wants the City to Lay a Side-track— The C.P.R. wants the city to lay a side-track in the city limits, between Ninth and Tenth streets, and General Superintendent B. C. Coleman states that the company will pay the cost of the work, estimated at $14,000. The commissioners feel that this would be a good idea at this season of the year, and decided to comply with the request only on condition that the company will assume liability for repairs in case the concrete does not set properly.

Waterworks Show Deficit— During the month of August the waterworks department had a loss of $710. This is the first month in a long time that the balance has been on the wrong side in the books of the waterworks department.

Contract is Awarded— The contract for the excavation of the new sewer basin has been awarded to the firm of J. H. McLeod, who has been paid $100 per cubic yard. Owing to the late season the work has been delayed, but the concrete work will not be done until the end of the month. It has been decided that the danger from freezing will not be a factor in completing the basin.

HAD ITCHING PILES FOR 27 YEARS

Often Laid Up for Days at a Time—
A Wonderful Tribute to Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Few people were ever more enthusiastic in praising Dr. Chase's Ointment than the writer of this letter. When you read this description of his case you will not wonder why of him, John Johnson, Goleman, Alta. writes: "Three years ago I was cured of blind, itching piles of 27 years' standing by using Dr. Chase's Ointment. I used to think that death would be the only relief I would ever get from the terrible misery of piles. Often I was laid up for three days at a time, and at other times worked when I should have been in bed. "Dr. Chase's Ointment is worth sixty dollars a box instead of sixty cents. I am a different man since using it. I am feeling all the time, and never miss a day. I will fail to express my gratitude for the cure this ointment made for me. I cannot tell how much I owe to it. I have never doubted this can cure every case of it." Dr. Chase's Ointment, 60 cents a box, bottled by Dr. J. M. Edmondson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

SUPPOSED SUICIDE'S BODY DISCOVERED

Louis M. Symons, Formerly
Messenger of Canadian Bank of Commerce.

With a quantity of fishing tackle close by, the body of Louis M. Symons, missing for some time, was found yesterday afternoon by J. M. Edmondson, street cleaner, and Joseph Philip, 213 Oliver street, near the intersection of the main street and about 20 feet from the river, where it was also found, the contents of which will be analyzed. It is thought to have contained morphine. The dead man was formerly employed by the Canadian Bank of Commerce, and left a substantial estate.

Since then Symons is said to have been dependent and in ill health. He is also said to have contemplated suicide, which leads the authorities to believe that he did so, as the body was found in a shallow stream.

Symons leaves a widow and five children in the south side. Coroner Foran, after viewing the remains with the police, ordered their removal to Connolly and McKelrick.

MOTORCYCLE CLUB WILL HOLD MEET

Oct. 4 is Decided Upon as the Day When Speedmerchants Will Perform.

That people whose systems demand a certain amount of excitement regularly in order to keep up their interest in this dull old world will have ample opportunity to secure a few healthy thrills on Saturday October 4, when the Edmonton Motor Cycle Club pull off its motor cycle races at the Edmonton Exhibition grounds.

At its meeting last night of motor cycle riders the club was re-organized, and one of the first things done was to decide definitely that the club would hold a race meet and to fix the date. The club has been considering this for some time. At the reorganization meeting last night the conditions which will have charge of the races was appointed.

Local riders have been trying out their "pop pop" on the track at the fair grounds recently, and one rider reports a time of 1.06 for the mile.

The program has not been made out yet, but the events will probably include a five-mile, a 10-mile, and a 15-mile race, with two cylinder machines, a race for sidecars, and a race for open events.

Some of these events will be open only to local riders and others will be open events. At the reorganization meeting last night the conditions which will have charge of the races was appointed.

The newly-elected officers of the club are: L. E. Evans, honorary president; Mr. J. J. Evans, president; Mr. Booth, vice-president; Mr. Bricker, secretary; Mr. Bricker, treasurer.

A committee was also appointed to look after the matter of securing clubrooms.

PIMPLES ON FACE
—ARMS AND LEGS

Scratched So Made Red Sore.
Trouble Grew Worse All the Time.
A Cake of Cuticura Soap and a Box of Cuticura Ointment Completely Cured.

Vile Jollette, Que.—"My little girl, aged four years, had so many pimples on her face, arms and legs that I did not know what to do. They lasted for a year. She commenced to scratch and she made pimples, clear, not red. She scratched so much that the blood ran and it made a red sore. The sores were worse on her arms and legs and on her face, and they were very looking with the blood. I was told what to do to stop her suffering, and I used the ointment but other ointments came out all the time. I tried all sorts of remedies but the trouble grew worse all the time. It was always the same story, until I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I began to apply the Cuticura Ointment on her, also hot water and Cuticura Soap. Immediately I began to see that they were curing her, and after having used a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment she was completely cured. She has just as fine a skin as before. My husband also used Cuticura Ointment for cracks in his hands. After three applications of the Cuticura Ointment he was completely cured." (Signed) Mrs. Alfred Corrier, Jan. 16, 1913.

SPORTOGRAPHY.

Intercollegiate Football in Full Swing.—Harvard, Princeton, Pennsylvania and Dartmouth will open the football season to-morrow, when the contest for the American Intercollegiate gridiron supremacy will be on in full swing. The game scheduled for tomorrow between Princeton and Harvard is of historic significance, since it was the teams of those two institutions that participated in the first intercollegiate football battle in America in the Harvard's showing will be watched with interest, as the Crimson are regarded as a strong favorite in the 1913 race. Harvard has a lot of good veteran material and practically all the wise guys back in the Cambridge lads to land the pennant in the football big league. Princeton's men are full of spunk and ginger and talent, but they Tiger-squid to a very 165 pounds. Which disposes of Princeton, for it is a fact, based on undeniable statistics, that on the gridiron, as in the ring, a good big man is nearly always better than a good little humbug. The Pennsylvanians have been all right to pieces, owing to the fact that Captain Meryer and a number of other stars have been given their sheepskins and sent out into the cruel world.

The games of the next few weeks are preparatory to the big contests to be staged in November, beginning on the first with intercollegiate clash between Syracuse and Michigan at Ann Arbor. Later in the month Michigan will play Cornell at Ithaca and Pennsy at Ann Arbor. The first of the big three battles will be played in Princeton on Nov. 8, when the little Tigers will try to make a meal of the husky Crimson. They and Dartmouth will raise a ruckus in New Haven a week later, and on the 25th the Elis and the Johnnies will mingle in classic Cambridge. The Polo grounds in New York will be the scene of the Army-Navy tussle on the 29th of November, marking the close of the season.

The rule permitting kicks from points immediately behind the line, instead of from five yards back, is expected to result in more open play this season. There are no other important changes in the football code, and the "debauched" rules of 1912 will continue to govern.

Just now there is a Crimson song all over the East, and all of the deposters are remarking, in unison, as it, "They would say that Harvard is the goods. But who knows what?"

Permits Taken Out For $65,000 Worth of Houses
Inspector's Office Had Busy Day Monday—1913 Building Record Promises to Keep up With Pace Set During Past Years—$13,100 for South Side

On Monday exactly $65,000 worth of building permits were taken out in Greater Edmonton. That means that on both sides of the river considerable building is anticipated this year, therefore the construction program of 1913 will finish up as bright and rosy as any previous year.

All the permits issued by Building Inspector Melvor are for the erection of dwellings. Not one permit calls for the construction of a business block. This is accounted for by the fact that in the early part of the year nearly all the permits were for blocks and stores, thus the construction during the spring and summer months have been of the heavy order. Of this total sum, $13,100 represents the building activity on the south side of the river, while the remaining $52,000 is for construction work on the north side. The largest permit issued for the old portion of the city, otherwise the north side, was given to S. F. Munson, which calls for the erection of a number of dwellings in Summerland, amounting to $23,000.
